

(Editorial.)

It is now being submitted to the consideration of the people whether they shall favor the issuing of bonds to accept the Federal Aid and try the plan of building permanent highways. This naturally will bring a great deal of discussion. By this agitation every voter in the County may be enlightened before he is called upon to act. We are going to publish for our readers a few short letters each week from both those who favor and those who are against the bond issue. At the same time we wish it understood that the editor of this paper favors the issue of the bonds and shall continue from week to week to give our reasons to the public. We do not agree to publish all the letters that we receive either for or against the proposition, but such as we think may bring out new ideas and new points as the agitation grows. One of the first arguments that we have heard against the bond issue is that it would favor those who live and own property as against the outlying district of the County and those who live upon the lateral macadam and dirt roads. We think this is both a narrow and a selfish view to take of the proposition. In the first place, the Federal Government and the State offers us about Two Hundred and forty-five Thousand Dollars. Unless we vote these bonds we lost this money. Our roads need work too much at this time to reject such an offer. Again, when a road is built in any part of the County, if it is to be assumed that it is for any specific neighborhood or adjoining property holders, it would be a discrimination against all other parts of the County, if the above reason was taken as a test.

But a complete answer to this is that permanent road construction is for all the county and must begin somewhere, and over the highway that brings the most good to all the County is the place where it should start and it is the road that should be built first. The road upon which this money would be expended is the one main highway in the County that must be maintained. It is estimated that the annual repairing of this road is more than the interest would be upon the proposed bonds. And even if the Federal money is not accepted that is offered us the Richmond pike at this time must be reconstructed, which would cost more than one eighth of the proposed bond issue, in fact, the contract has already been let subject to a cancellation upon the carrying of the bonds, for the expenditure of a large sum of money on the Richmond pike. If the bonds are issued and this road is rebuilt it releases the entire annual road fund to be used in rebuilding and maintaining of the other roads in the County, and instead of the voting of the bonds being to the detriment of the out-lying roads of the County, it is the only hope for assistance to any extent.

The releasing of this large sum of money for this main highway would afford quite a sum to repair the roads which are not required to bear heavy traffic. One of the principle reasons which lead us to be urgent advocates of the bonds is that a way may be provided by the release of the annual road fund to have this money spent upon roads which have heretofore been neglected. We are convinced that water bound macadam roads are a

A WARNING

Dog Owners Had Better Have Their Canines Tagged.

Both the Sheriff and County Clerk are giving warning to the people who own dogs to pay their tax and get the license tag. Violators of the dog law will be arrested at once. The efforts of some last year to bring the dog law into disrepute failed completely, and a considerable amount of the sentiment against that law has been converted into heavy partisanship as people have been able to see the success in the sheep industry in the state.

The Commissioner at Frankfort is now going to require the strictest enforcement by the county officers. It is likely that in Mercer but few arrests will be made when it becomes known that this law is going to be enforced to the limit. The plan is to first arrest the delinquent dog owner and if he fails to pay his dog tax when he pays his fine, the Sheriff will then kill his dog in compliance with the law. It is evident that some few think they can temporize with the law, but of course there are others who merely neglect or forget to tag their dogs properly, and are willing to do it immediately when their attention is called to it. The task of enforcing this law is very disagreeable one to all the Sheriffs, but it must be done and they have no choice in the matter. So strong is the sentiment growing in favor of this law that there is a feeling in the state that the penalty should be increased for offenders, both officers of the law and the dog owners.—Harrodsburg Herald.

Called For A

"Show Down".

FRANKFORT, Ky.—The Senate, Tuesday called on Governor Morrow for a show down with regard to the claim of 314 useless offices created since Wilson's administration. The vote was 18 to 16, Senator B. H. Harris, a well known Republican, voting with Democrats and offsetting the defection of Senator C. W. Burton, Democrat, of Grant county, who has consistently voted with Republicans since beginning. Harris said he was elected on the platform of abolishing useless offices and he wanted to know about them.

Warning to The Public.

Owing to the destructive sleet last week, which was very disastrous to the Telephone Company, we warn the public to be careful of poles and wires on public highways, and in case of serious trouble please report to the Telephone office. We have a crew of men working and are trying to get all lines in as soon as possible.

THE SWISS BELL RINGERS.

waste of funds and we are anxious to see Garrard County start upon a system of permanent road construction and by the use of the proposed bonds with Federal Aid proposed we have an opportunity to make a good start. We are persuaded that the interest upon the bonds can be paid and the bonds matured without any increase in the rate of taxation, provided land values do not decrease and the assessment of the County is maintained at its present level. We do not mean that a larger sum than the present road money collected could not be used profitably, if judiciously expended. That question can be raised and later settled whether the people desire the collection and expenditure of a large road fund. Whether we are pleased with the present road management or not should not enter into the consideration of this question, because if these bonds are voted it will be expended under the direction of State and Federal Road department and the success of the present or any other road administration is not up for settlement. We trust that our people may give this important issue a fair and full consideration before making up their minds to act either one way or the other.

ELECTION CALLED

By The Progressive Boyle Fiscal Court

For The Purpose of Voting A Small Tax of 15 Cents on the Hundred For The Federal Highway.

The Boyle Fiscal Court, at a called meeting, held yesterday, decided to call an election for Saturday, February 28th, for the purpose of voting a tax of 15 cents on the $100, for a period of two years, in order that Boyle county can be enabled to build her part of the proposed Federal Highway that is booked to run from Hart county to and through the counties of Green, Taylor, Marion, Boyle, Garrard and Madison. The Advocate wishes to strongly endorse the Boyle Fiscal Court for this wise stand it has taken and we feel that the people of this forward looking county will unhesitatingly vote an endorsement of the move next month. Boyle county has enjoyed better roads than most any county in Kentucky and the people want none but the best here and they will respond ungrudgingly to the Fiscal Court's call for the meagre sum asked. Come on now Chamber of Commerce and get behind this worthy move.—Danville Advocate.

INCOME TAX MAN

To be in Lancaster Soon

Elwood Hamilton, Collector of Internal Revenue, is sending his deputies to various parts of the State to assist taxpayers in making out their 1919 Income Tax returns. The Collector announces that during the period for filing returns, one of his deputies will visit the county-seat of each county in the State, and in a few instances, will visit towns other than the county-seat.

Collector Hamilton says that these offices are sent out to be of real service to the taxpayers, particularly to those taxpayers who have not before had occasion to make a return.

The officers will be glad to furnish blanks and supply necessary information. Taxpayers are invited to avail themselves of the officers services.

The Income Tax Man will be in this county on the following dates: February 13th, 14th, 16th, 17th, 18th, 19th, 20th and 21st., at Lancaster.

American Legion Call.

TO ALL EX-SOLDIERS, MARINES AND NAVY:

There will be a meeting of the American Legion of Post Heidal Sanfor No. 35, at the Police Court room next Saturday night at 7:15 P. M.

If you were in the service you are cordially invited and urged to be present for this meeting, as matters of importance will be brought up that you as an American Citizen should be interested in.

The American Legion is an organization that in no way binds you to the Government, it is non political and non religious, this is for the white men only who served in the Great War.

We are intending to, through the National Association to have an organization for the Wives, Mothers and Sisters of the boys who served their country.

On Sunday February 1st, there will be a drive to get all the Ex-Service men into this organization and it behooves you as citizens of the great Commonwealth of Kentucky to join this League.

The following are members of this Post and they are urgently asked to be present and to try and bring several other members with them, whether you are a member or not, we will appreciate you meeting with us next Saturday night at the Police Court Room, Jan. 31st, at 7:15 P. M.

If you cannot be present please notify the Post Commander at once. Messrs John G. and Robert Kinnaird; Willie Mac and Paul Elliott; J. Wade Walker, Gus P. Dunn, Chas. M. Thompson, Cecil Brown, Chas. Gooch, Dr. J. S. Gilbert, William and Joe Kavanaugh, J. C. Simpson, Charles A. Prewitt, Adolph Joseph, Alex and Charles B. Doty, Joe Wheeler, Benj. Woods, Billy F. Miller, Kinnaird Dorton, Robert L. Meadows, Charles Tankersley, James Kidd, Simmie Murphy, Sid Aldridge, Wm. Layton, John H. Jennings, Brewer Layton, Curtis Sanford, W. B. Mason, Glass B. Carrier, Bryan Gastineau, Mark Jennings, Richard Lackey and Elmer Miller.

We are expecting the above members to be present and bring with them as many Ex-Service men as possible, we also extend an invitation to any Legionaire visiting in the city.

Resp.
VIRGIL G. KINNAIRD,
Post Commander, H. S. Post No. 35.

SLEET STORM

Wednesday and Thursday of Last Week one of the Worst Ever Seen Here.

One of the worst sleet storms that ever visited this section of the state fell down upon this community last Wednesday and continued through Thursday. Had not the weather moderated when it did the result of the damage done would have been much heavier.

As it was it was the worst ever seen in this section of the state.

Most of the damage done and those that suffered the greatest losses was the Bastin Telephone Company, putting several hundred phones out of commission, that may take several weeks to repair.

On the Richmond and Lancaster road it is said that there are possibly 100 poles down between Lancaster and Paint Lick. A large crew of workmen are working every day and most of the night, trying to get the system back to normal conditions and they ask the public and patrons to be as lenient with them as they can. The company's losses will run into several thousand dollars.

Bastin Brothers were also heavy sufferers, many of their wires being torn down by falling limbs, laden down with ice, which has practically stripped every maple tree in the city. Owing to the broken telephone wires falling over the high charged electric wires, this company was compelled to suspend business for two days and the town during that time was in utter darkness. Things are being adjusted rapidly however and business will soon be its normal self again.

SPECIAL ELECTION

Called For March 30th, 1920.

A petition signed by nearly two hundred and fifty citizens and land owners of the county was presented to Judge Forest Stapp last Monday, asking that a vote of the citizens of the county be taken as to whether bonds to the extent of $192,000.00 shall be issued to pay the county's part of the Federal Highway, to be run from Kings Mill via Camp Dick Robinson, through Lancaster and on to Paint Lick over the Richmond pike.

Judge Stapp acted very promptly the request of the citizens and has called a special election for Tuesday, March 30th, to take the sense of the voters on this proposition.

The call will be found elsewhere in this issue of the Record.

L. B. Conn Here.

We are glad to welcome back to Lancaster, Mr. L. B. Conn, who has been making his home in Danville for the past five years, where he has had the exclusive agency for the Buick cars in connection with his garage, which he sold recently.

He will handle this splendid and popular car here and has already received several of the 1920 models. Watch for his advertisement in the next issue.

Big Sale Ahead.

Mr. J. A. Robinson was in the city yesterday and asked us to state that his big sale of personal property will be pulled off on March 3rd, consisting of live stock of most every description. On the same day Mr. J. I. Hamilton will sell the famous Spring Hill farm at public auction. This sale will begin at 9 A. M. and will last the entire day. Lunch will be served and the farm will be sold immediately after. Watch for the advertisements which will appear in this paper in our next issue. The sale will be conducted by Messrs Hughes and McCarty of Stanford.

Rankin Home Burns.

Mr. James D. Rankin had the misfortune to lose his handsome home by fire last Sunday morning about ten o'clock, supposed to have caught from a defective flu. The home is known as the Chestnut place and was purchased by Mr. Rankin about three years ago and lies near the Fork church on the Lexington pike. His losses will run into the thousands, with only $1,800 insurance. A portion of the contents were saved. The building would cost $10,000 to replace it at present prices.

People make a great mistake by not carrying more insurance with Gaines, who always pays his losses promptly.

URGES PROFITEERS

BE JAILED.

Senator Capper Flays Manufacturers Who Gouge Public.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24.—Jail bars for profiteers was urged by Senator Capper, Republican, Kansas, in an address today in the Senate. Profiteers, he said, are more dangerous than "Reds".

Advocating legislation by Congress to curb profiteering, Senator Capper said the people could help themselves, too, if they would organize to boycott the "profit hogs by refusing to buy goods offered at extortionate prices."

The Kansas Senator declared there could be no doubt that "the public is being sandbagged" in view of profits received by large manufacturing corporations and the rise in the value of their securities. He cited figures regarding the American Woolen Company, the Central Leather Company, the Crucible Steel Company, the United States Steel Corporation and others.

Cites Profit In Clothes.

Referring to increased prices of clothing Senator Capper read a telegram from the National Wool Growers' Association stating that the wool in a suit of clothes selling for $100 costs only $7.37.

"A 50 per cent increase in the price of shoes by next summer is predicted by the president of the National Shoe Travelers' Association," continues Mr. Capper. "The day this prediction appeared another extra dividend was declared by the Central Leather Company."

"Common stock of this company was rated at 58 a year ago. It is now quoted around 105. While the people contemplate going barefoot the leather trust walks on velvet, made thicker. A year ago it was the war demand for leather that made shoes high. Now it seems to be the peace demand for velvet."

"Just now the greatest 'get-rich-quick' game in America is gouging in sugar. The increase in the price of sugar will add $1,000,000,000 to the burdens now being borne by the American people. The stock of the Cuba-American Company has advanced more than 200 per cent in the last twelve months, probably because of the 'sugar shortage.'

Flays Lumber Trust.

"We have 4,000,000 homeless persons in the United States as a result of the melon cutting in lumber. There has been and is shameful profiteering in that industry."

"The market price of the farmer's livestock has declined nearly 50 per cent, bringing many farmers to the verge of bankruptcy, but the high prices the consumer pays for meat are virtually unchanged."

"The income tax returns prove the mine operators get excessive profits."

"All the quotations I have referred to conspire to prove there is profiteering by the great industrial corporations that have sandbagged the public, rather than by merchants who deal directly with the consumer."

"No doubt there is price gouging by some of the retailers, but it is the price of goods, when they leave the factory to which the Administration's best attention should be first directed."

Mules High And

In Great Demand.

Mule buyers from various points over the State and Tennessee, as well as from Alabama and Georgia, were on the streets early, but the rumor of high prices had preceded them, so with a full market of high grade mules to pick from trade was more brisk than ever before witnessed on a county court day. According to the best figures obtainable 290 mules were sold. One car averaged $325; a number were sold for $400, and the lowest recorded price was $180.

It was understood that one Simpson county farmer refused $2,600 for four extra good ones.

E. V. Bogan paid Halcomb Bros, $1,000 for a pair of matched mules and Ben Humphrey received the next highest price, $900, for a pair.—Franklin Favorite.

Legion Meeting.

American Legion Meeting next Saturday night at the Police Court Room at 7:15 P. M. All Ex-Service men are urgently requested to be present.

Virgil G. Kinnaird,
Post Commander.

LAST MONDAY

Was A Big Day In Lancaster.

One of the largest crowds seen in Lancaster in several court days was here last Monday. Quite a lot of mules were on hand and some of them sold well. Good mules are selling higher than ever known and when the farmer begins to look around for something to plow later in the spring he may have to pay a great deal more than the owners are asking for them now. Up to this time very little if any plowing has been done and when the season does open up, the demand for work mules will be greater than the supply. Take it from us.

Mr. Fletcher Mann, of Lexington, one of the best mule buyers in the state was here last Monday and bought fourteen mules. He purchased eight of them from Center Brothers, for which he paid $235.00 a round. He also bought six cracker-jacks from Virgil Gastineau, for which he paid a total of $2,000.00. These are all mare mules and good ones.

Center Brothers bought one of Logan Hubble for $150.00 that wasn't so good but well worth the money. Percy Hager bought a horse mule from Royston Ray for $180.00 that looked high but knowing ones claim he was cheap.

FACTS

Come To Light In Big Booze Case

OHIO MEN PAID KNEBELKAMP $35,000 FOR 250 CASES FROM WATHEN DISTILLERY.

Louisville—Whiskey shipped from the Wathen warehouse on Seventh street road, which accompanied the truck seized at Versailles, Ky., January 11, was purchased by Charles Butcher, Covington; his brother-in-law, Dennis Buckley, and Geo. Renner, Hamilton, Ohio, according to an affidavit made Friday before internal revenue agents at Cincinnati.

Butcher, who swore to the affidavits, claims the whiskey was purchased from W. F. Knebelkamp, connected with the Wathen distillery; that Knebelkamp was given $35,500 in cash for 250 cases of whiskey.

A truck carrying 100 cases of whiskey was seized at Versailles, January 11th, after the two negro drivers had opened a case, got drunk and lost their way.

The whiskey, it is alleged, was represented to be used for medicinal purposes. The tax paid was $2.50 a gallon, instead of the $6.40 rate required on beverage liquor. According to Butcher the whiskey was to have been shipped to Hamilton Ohio.

Efforts of internal revenue agents to locate the missing truck have been unavailing. Butcher claims that he and his brother-in-law paid $10,166 each to Knebelkamp and that Renner paid the remaining $15,666.

Two large trucks were provided for the shipment northward of the liquor according to Butcher, along with drivers and negro workers. One truck, he said, was loaded with 100 cases and the other with 150 cases.

The largest of the trucks was to precede the other, which was supposed to keep close behind. Two negroes on the second truck lost their leader at a fork in the road on the outskirts of Frankfort, Ky., but continued going. They were halted at Versailles and arrested.

Revenue agents were at once notified. Every bridge was closely guarded and every automobile halted. As yet the whiskey has not been located, but Butcher says he believed it reached Hamilton, its supposed destination.

At one place on the road, within 25 miles of Cincinnati, a truck was hailed by revenue officers, but when the chauffeur sang out: "Why, yes. We've got the whiskey, we're the government agents taking it to town," they were allowed to pass.

Both trucks were covered with black tarpaulins and together with the cases of whiskey other articles were loaded for camouflage.

Aside from alleged violation of the prohibition and revenue laws bearing on the case, the men implicated are subject, it is declared to prosecution under the Reed amendment in the event that the whiskey was taken from Kentucky into Ohio.

The whiskey was priced to the purchasers at $122 a case for the 250 cases, according to Butcher's statement.

President Jefferson was the first chief executive of the nation to read his message to congress. The event took place December 8, 1801. Prior to this it had been the custom, inaugurated by Washington, for the president to appear in person before congress and speak his message, reading from manuscript if he desired.

Memory.

The qualities of a good memory are, in the first place, to be susceptible; secondly, to be retentive; and thirdly, to be ready. It is but rarely that these three qualities are united in the same person. We often indeed meet with a memory which is at once susceptible and ready; but I doubt very much if such memories be commonly very retentive; for the same set of habits which are favorable to the first two qualities are adverse to the third.—Dugald Stewart.

"Dead Fruit."

Leaving baseball, football and boxing aside, there is no longer a great disparity between woman's and man's athletic prowess. But whether the women should be permitted to compete with the men in the golf, tennis, shooting, and other championships is debatable ground. If the men oppose it, one can hardly blame them, for it must be years before victory over a woman will be regarded as anything but "dead fruit," and defeat as anything but a disgrace.

Restoring Elasticity of Rubber.

Rubber articles that have become hard recover their elasticity in a short time if placed in 3 per cent carbolic water or 3 per cent aniline solution. In the case of the carbolic solution it must not be forgotten that black goods exposed to it become gray. If it is desired to preserve the black or red color of the goods, that, too, can be done. A 1 per cent solution of pantoisulphate of potash is employed. It is true that this smells unpleasant, but the restoration of elasticity is quite considerable.

DAIRY FACTS

CLUB BOYS RAISING HEIFERS

Animals Are Relatively Easy to Handle While Owner Gains Experience in Feeding.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Many junior dairy clubs favor the maintenance of bred heifers by their members, because these animals are relatively easy to handle while their young owner gains experience in feeding and caring for the young females before they calve. Subsequently he learns how to handle the calf, which constantly is increasing in value. Where mature cows are distributed among the junior dairy club members more risk is involved, as many of the youngsters are not experienced sufficiently to handle them properly.

The advantage of distributing calves among the next generation of stock breeders, according to specialists, is the low initial cost of the animal and the fact that its keeping involves less expense and care on the part of the attendant. On the other hand, it requires three years to complete the project. This may be considered undesirable, as interest of the club members will likely become lessened. In both the case of the bred heifer and the calf it is difficult to select the best animals which will prove to be profitable producers, while in the case of the cow, she demonstrates her worth if proper records of production and expenses are kept. The junior dairy club work develops potential breeders who will mature from raisers of a single heifer or calf into full-grown owners of extensive and quality herds.

CARING FOR EXPORTED COWS

American Animal Never Made Much of a Reputation in Europe Until Great War.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

The American dairy cow, beauty that she is and has always been, has never made very much of a reputation in Europe until the war destroyed so many of the native milk producers. Now, the American dairy cow is crossing the ocean pretty freely, and the United States department of agriculture, largely for her benefit, has revised its regulations governing the inspection, humane handling, and safe transport of export animals. The regulations, in the first place, were fixed mainly for beef cattle. A dairy cow that is to live her life out and bear a responsible part in the upbringing of a human family requires more careful handling than an animal that is to be slaughtered. Consequently, better arrangements have been made for stalls, an adequate number of attendants is stipulated, and more careful handling in general is required.

SILAGE IS EXCELLENT FEED

Particularly Adapted to Dairy Animals and Should Be Combined With Some Legume.

While silage is excellent feed for dairy stock, it should be combined with some leguminous feed, such as clover, cowpeas, or alfalfa, owing to its insufficient productive qualities. The leguminous material will correct the deficiencies of the silage in dry matter, prote'n and mineral constituents.

DAIRY NOTES

The profitable marketing of dairy products is very important.

Grass by itself is not considered a balanced ration for the milk cow.

The general farmer is finding that the dairy cow is a valuable asset in his farming operations.

Improvement of the herd comes through the sire. Therefore, make sure you get a right good one.

Grass, hay, corn fodder and other roughage which may not have a ready sale are economically utilized by the dairy cow.

In order to make the dairy herd return a profit in this time of high priced feeds, we must feed the cows intelligently.

For the same reason that it pays to groom horses, it also is invaluable to apply the brush and curry comb vigorously to the cow daily.

Stiff? Sore?

A lame back, a sore muscle or a stiff joint often is considered too lightly by the sufferer. It should be remembered that backache, rheumatic pains, stiffness, soreness, sallowness and puffiness under the eyes are symptoms of kidney and bladder trouble—and these certainly should not be neglected.

Foley Kidney Pills

help the kidneys eliminate from the system the poisonous waste and acids that cause these aches and pains. They act promptly and effectively to restore weak, overworked or diseased kidneys and bladder to healthy, normal condition.

J. E. Simpson, 609 E. 5th St., Portland, Ore., writes: "I was troubled with backache and urinary trouble. I tried Foley Kidney Pills and will say that I highly recommend them to anyone troubled in that way, as they are excellent."

A Trick of Fate

By CECILLE LANGDON

(Copyright, 1919, Western Newspaper Union)

Behind Egbert Royce was a joyous boyhood, a pleasant college career and a clear record. Before him was a glowing prospect of ambition. He had worked hard as a law student, had been admitted to the bar and had taken a month's vacation at the insistent command of his uncle.

"Forget everything and have a good time," said that indulgent individual. "I have placed a liberal account at your banker's. You begin active service with Chapman, Burt & Royce as a full partner, and I expect to take pleasure in watching and nurturing your professional career. There can't be much that you want that you can't have."

What Egbert wished for at heart was congenial companionship and close human sympathy. He had been an orphan from the age of ten and had lived with his bachelor uncle in a massive but cheerless home. Impulsive, warm-hearted, now that his future was practically solved he longed to unite with it all the various social amenities, ready and eager to make friends, and his artless and sincere frame of mind made him an easy captive to love if it came along.

Merton, whither he sojourned, was an ideal spot for the enjoyment of nature. He took long tramps every day, dining at some old-time cross-roads hostelry, or carried a liberal lunch, which keen exercise caused him to enjoy with rare zest. It was his fifth day of exile from city life and its turbulence that Egbert sought the grateful shade of a thicket near a pretty brook, placed his package of lunch on the ground and gave himself over to a slumberous ease. He closed his eyes to open them as a swishing sound struck his ear.

"Here! you audacious robber!" ejaculated Egbert, arising to his feet, but too late to avoid speedy action on the part of an intruder.

A small, brisk dog had come into view bearing in his teeth a dark object, which he dropped to take a sniff at the package of lunch. Made aware of the contents of this, the animal straightway transferred it to his jaws and skittered away in a flash.

Egbert called, whistled, ran after the canine thief, but the latter was speedily out of sight. More slowly Egbert traversed the immediate vicinity without result, to return to the thicket and regard with considerable surprise the object the dog had dropped.

It was a shoe, a lady's shoe, but so dainty and diminutive that Egbert declared that its owner must be a miracle of grace and form. It was nearly new, was of expensive fabric, and built along the lines of fashion.

"I declare!" ruminated Egbert. "Where did the dog ever come from and where can be the owner of this marvel of shoemaking excellence?" and he began to mentally construct a fairy creature to fit the shoe. She was worth the pains of looking for, he decided, and a sensation born of romance urged him to traverse quite a distance in search of the lady in question, but vainly.

He returned to his hotel late in the day, the shoe in his pocket. He placed it on the stand at the side of his bed and smiled at the vast romance his mind conjured as he went to sleep. It was several hours later that he awoke, gasping, half blinded, so utterly helpless that he found himself unable to struggle to an upright position.

Egbert experienced a suffocating sensation that warned him of serious peril. Then a conception of the cause of the same aroused him to desperate action. The room was full of escaping gas, coming from a leak in the supply pipe or from the jet, which had in some way been turned on after the light was extinguished.

He groped and tried to cry out. His hand met the top of the stand. It rested upon the shoe. He grasped it and then with all the strength he was capable of he hurled it at the broad transom over the top of the door of the room.

Crash! There was a slight relief of the poisonous pressure. For a moment sensibility deserted Egbert, but he was reawakened as a servant in the corridor was showered with the falling glass, burst open the door and Egbert was saved.

"And the shoe saved me!" he reflected the next morning, and before noon he was retraversing his route of the day before. A certain belief in fate, an inexplicable desire to find the owner of the shoe possessed him.

Traversing the sloping shore of the brook Egbert spurred up as in the sand he detected the impress of a dog's feet. Next his glance fell upon dainty heel marks of a shoe, and then of one of coarser mold.

"Not mates!" breathed Egbert. "It must be she!" and turning past a grove he came in sight of the canine robber and at his side a winsome-faced, graceful young lady.

"It was one of Tosco's mischievous tricks carrying away the shoe," Lettie Paxton explained. "I have had to go with mismates until father could send for a new pair," and she looked so bewitchingly sympathetic and glad when told of how his life had been saved, that he secretly knew that before he began his career in the courts of law he would serve a willing apprenticeship in the courts of love.

Janitor.
The Romans always had a slave who stood by the door. Since the latter was called "Janua," the term "Janitor" came to be applied to him. Our janitors have a great many duties other than those connected with waiting upon the door; but this detail of Roman house management is crystallized in their name.

COW-TESTING IS PROFITABLE

Best Scientific Agency for Isolating and Eradicating Drones From Dairy Herd.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Practical reports from the various cow-testing associations throughout the country show the value of this work of separating the chaff from the wheat in cowdom. The modern cow-testing association is the best scientific agency for isolating and eradicating the drones from the herd, while it also is of value as a detector of the highest producing animals. Such studies of the cow's appetite, digestion and production are the economical and logical methods of increasing the net earnings of the dairy.

One Ohio cow-testing association, whose members owned 385 cows last year, reports an association average of 345 pounds of butterfat per cow, and that the present production of the cows is 72 pounds of fat more apiece than it was at the first of the year.

Another cow-testing association announces that its expenses during the last five years have been below $4,000 while the value of the increased production during only the last year has aggregated over $11,000. This remarkable increase in income is not abnormal for this particular association as during each year the production of the cows has improved and the returns greatly increased. Members from another association report that all other cow owners are feeding the individual animals according to the capacity and production of each cow. This is a remarkable change from conditions a few years back when the cows' feed boxes at mealtime always contained the same allowance of feed.

"There is certainly all the difference in the world between bulls," comments a member of a successful bull club. "Do you recollect that old 'Bonnie' cow of mine whose record was only 537 pounds of fat? I have raised three heifers from her, the best of which produced 715 pounds of fat during the last year, while the other two heifers, which are younger, yielded respectively, 363 and 361 pounds of fat. These heifers were sired by different purebred bulls and evidently the difference in the qualifications of the sires as regards fat production is aptly characterized in the production of their daughters."

RETAIN ALL DAIRY ANIMALS

More People Than Ever in Country to Feed and Milk Will Be Used if Price Is Fair.

There are more people to feed than ever in this country and if prices can be brought to a point where they can afford to buy they will buy and use a great deal more milk than they did. As for selling of dairy cows, think how disastrous it would be. Many do not even now get as much milk as they would like, and thousands and thousands of pounds of butter substitutes are used every year.

The Year 1920 Will Be One Fraught With Momentous Making Of History

In the libraries of the future, the historical volumes, marked 1920, will deal with a critical period of the world's history.

The whole world is now in a frenzy of discontent. In the old world new parties with new policies, each striving for control, are walking hand on hand with the spectre of distrust, where they are not already dying in the flame of fratricidal war.

In the United States profiteering has become a science, all sense of values is gone, Bolshevism is raising its vicious head, and labor and capital, by passing the buck, each to the other, are leaving the middle class bearing the brunt of the burden. It is a critical period through which this world is passing, and one that demands the whole-souled interest of every thinking man and woman in this world.

You can not perform your duties as a citizen of this country unless you think right; you can not think right unless you are fully informed; you can not be fully informed unless you read a daily newspaper.

As a citizen, and as a voter, you wish to vote intelligently. You wish to know what the leaders of the big political parties are offering as the panacea for this present condition. In order to perform this duty intelligently, you must have access to the news as it is published day by day.

Granted that it is your duty to read a daily newspaper, it is also your duty to read the paper that will give you the most news, particularly when its cost is the same as the others.

The Louisville Herald has the largest circulation of any morning newspaper in Kentucky, and as all Louisville newspapers are sold at the same price, this is self-evident proof that it is considered the best paper by the most people.

The Louisville Herald gives you all the news from the Associated Press that wonderful news gathering organization, which covers the entire world with its list of correspondents; in addition it gives you all the news from Europe that is gathered by the Universal News Service; this in addition to The Herald's own list of special correspondents and its editorial staff. No newspaper can give you more than this—few can give you as much.

The Louisville Herald, apart from its general news value, thoroughly covers the financial world, and keeps you fully informed as to the daily fluctuations on all marketable commodities. News of the world of sports is more than a tabulation of sporting events, as compiled for The Herald's sport page.

The Louisville Herald contains more features of general family interest than we have space to specify in the short space of this advertisement; but we will say this much, that there is something of interest to every member of your family in every issue. We will, if you are unfamiliar with The Herald, gladly send you a sample copy on request. We would suggest that in order to protect yourself against a raise in subscription price for the coming year, that you give your order to your local agent now; if there is none in your town, send in the coupon below.

HOLLAND

Thinks Case Is Closed.

Does Not Expect Allies To Take Any Further Action In The Ex-Kaiser's Case.

THE HAGUE.—(By the Associated Press)—While there may be a future exchange of notes with reference to the allied demand for surrender of the former German Emperor, the government of The Netherlands is declared inclined to the belief that its decision will be considered as final.

The Dutch press does not expect any belligerent action by the allied powers, and the government is believed to share this view, on the theory that the demand for the former monarch's extradition was made merely to satisfy some political clamor in the allied States, aid was not intended to be pressed by the statesmen who signed it. The Dutch people are not particularly happy that the ex-emperor sought refuge here, but so far as press comment can indicate, the government's refusal to surrender him was what the people expected and wanted.

The reference to the League of Nations in the reply to the entente was explained to the correspondent by a high official as meaning that Holland considers the former emperor's case beyond even the power of the League of Nations tribunal as no league law covering his case was in effect at the time his alleged crimes were committed. The correspondent was also told that the Dutch government had no knowledge of any attempt made by the allies to get the accused exile to surrender himself.

As far as they know he expects to stay at Amerongen and Doorn and the former Crown Prince, who was not mentioned in the allied note, shows no sign of an intention to leave his refuge on the Island of Wieringen.

There is some conjecture finding expression here as to whether in case of further demands by the allies the Hohenzollerns would be willing to save Holland further trouble by surrendering voluntarily.

GOOD WOMAN

Called To Her Final Reward.

Mrs. Lucy Hudson Beazley died at her home in Stanford last Monday morning after a short illness of heart trouble. So sudden was her death that even her nearest relatives did not think of the end being so near, though at 10:30 o'clock the fatal summons came and brought to an end a long and useful life.

Mrs. Beazley was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Morgan Hudson, of this county where she was born August 16th, 1844. Her husband, Mr. E. B. Beazley preceded her to the grave about 24 years ago, he having died in March 1896. Three children are left to mourn the loss of a devoted and christian mother. They are: Mesdames Nevin Carter, and W. P. Logan and Mr. Morgan H. Beazley, all of Lincoln county. She is also survived by two brothers, Mr. B. F. Hudson, of this city and Mr. Morgan Hudson, of Danville.

The sympathy of this and adjoining counties go out to the children and brothers in the loss of so devoted a mother and sister. Since early childhood, Mrs. Beazley was a devout member of the Christian church. The remains were brought to Lancaster yesterday and at eleven o'clock the interment took place in the local cemetery. Her pastor, Rev. H. J. Brazelton, conducted the brief services at the grave.

Prominent Woman Dies At Kirksville.

Mrs. G. W. Burton died at Kirksville, Saturday evening, at 10 o'clock, aged 78 years. She was in her usual good health, being seated at the supper table, with members of her family, and her death came as a complete shock to her loved ones. Death was supposed to be from heart trouble. She had been a resident of Kirksville since 1868, and was next to the oldest inhabitant of the village, was a conscientious christian woman, a member of the Christian church, beloved by all who knew her. One daughter, Mrs. Charles Jennings, of Danville, four sons, Dr. George Burton, of Kirksville, Fred Burton, of Danville, Arthur Burton, of Arizona, and James Burton, of Louisville. Remains were interred in the cemetery at Lancaster, Tuesday afternoon.—Richmond Register.

Can C.O.D. Parcel Post

The postal law regulations recently amended provide for the forwarding of perishable parcels without prepayment of charges at the forwarding office, but to be collected by due stamps on delivery to the addressee, and all other second, third and fourth class mail matter when the sender pledges payment of the forwarding source by the addressee or to pay the charges of mail of this class if returned.

No particular form pledge is prescribed, but it must be placed immediately below the senders return card, which is required in all cases, in the upper left hand corner of the address side, and so worded as to show clearly that the forwarding or return charges will be paid.

The following is suggested as a suitable form of pledge:

IS GARRARD COUNTY GOING TO FALL DOWN? NO!

Once more we can hear the cry of hungry women and children in far off Armenia and Syria so cruelly treated by the terrible Turks, and who have had to live off of human flesh and the marrow of human bones.

Are we as true Americans and the country which the world is looking toward for leadership, and which has been bountifully blessed by God's richest blessings, going to allow the poor starving women and children to continue to starve without aiding them with that which God has given us to use judiciously?

No! We know all the men and women, both young and old of Garrard County are going to come unsolicited and join the $5.00 club to save these poor starving people.

Auto Thief Caught.

Alvin Holtzclaw, charged with stealing an automobile belonging to Mr. Simmons, of Richmond, was arrested here last Friday by Marshal Herron, who had a warrant sent here for his arrest from the officers of Stanford where he had taken the stolen car.

The car was appropriated in front of the Garrard Tobacco Warehouse early last week, while Mr. Simmons was buying tobacco on the breaks.

Holtzclaw had been working at the house and suspicions were at once put upon him as he had suddenly disappeared. When approached with the warrant by Mr. Herron, he confessed that he had taken the car and it could be found on a certain street in Stanford where he had collided with a telephone post. Young Holtzclaw is a son of Mr. Ben Holtzclaw, but has been living most of his life with Mr. W. J. Holtzclaw, an uncle who had taken him to raise after the death of his mother.

Here They Come, Girls!

"Puss in Boots" is an old story now, but "Women in Trousers" is the latest to catch the eye of the paragrapher.

In all of the large cities and in many of the smaller places a neat trouserette for women is making its appearance. And, strange as it may seem, the men take it quite as a matter of course and hardly bat an eye. It has utterly failed to create any kind of a masculine commotion.

And why shouldn't the women adopt a more sensible form of dress?

Every one knows that the clumsy shirts with which they have been hampered for ages are insanitary and germ carriers, a detriment to health and a spreader of disease.

Man arranges his dress so as to insure him the greatest freedom of action and comfort.

Can you conceive of any sane reason why a woman should not be accorded the same consideration?

There was a great hue and cry when the women first appeared in public wearing riding breeches. Now it is considered the only sensible costume for a woman when riding a horse.

It has been so with every innovation since the beginning of time.

It will be so with the new trouserette. A storm of criticism will go up, facetious remarks will be made, but in the end women will wonder why they did not come to their senses long ago.

It is only a question of time when the cumbersome and insanitary skirt will disappear.

Now is as good a time as any other.

Take the plunge!

Farm Registration

Law Is Failure.

Frankfort, Ky.—The law requiring the registration of farms has proved to be a failure as the records of the Department of Agriculture show that but six farms have been registered since the law was passed by the last General Assembly.

This information is set out in a report on the department made by State Inspector and Examiner Henry F. Turner, the report dealing with the different departments which come under the supervision of the Commissioner of Agriculture.

Inspector Turner places the value of property owned by the State on the Kentucky State Fair grounds at $400,000, all of which is paid for. Only $66,000 of the amount was derived by direct appropriation from the State, the remainder having been contributed by public spirited citizens and enterprises and from receipts of the operating of the annual State Fair.

The $10,000 yearly appropriation by the State for the Maintenance and Labor Account of the State Fair, Inspector Turner says, is not sufficient, but the deficit is met by a sufficient amount from the operating fund.

The members of the State Board of Agriculture of the State Fair are to be congratulated. Inspector Turner reports, for under their management a deficit of $12714.85 has been wiped out and on Jan. 1, 1919, there was a balance of $6,729.51, in view of the fact that premiums have been increased from $28,000 when the present board took charge to $78,000.

The receipts for the Department of Agriculture for the fiscal years 1915 to 1919, inclusive, amounted to $181,509.94. The amount includes funds appropriated to the different branches under the department.

The department has collected $6,339.95 under the Stud License law which remains in the State Treasury as no disbursements have been made.

The receipts from the dog tax law for February, March, April and May amounted to $12,203.53. The disbursements from this fund totaled $6,444.12, leaving a balance of $6,559.41 on hand.

The Long Arm

Of Crime.

Many people imagine that the present reign of crime in our great cities has no effect upon our rural population. But they are in error.

Crime extends its paralyzing blight even to the remotest crossroads of the backwoods country.

The press of the cities is filled with the exploits of criminals. These papers are read broadcast. To the young fellow just approaching manhood there is a certain glamour attached to these lurid newspaper stories which gives to the criminal much the aspect of a hero.

This atmosphere can not be other than degenerating to the young mind just approaching maturity, especially if the youth be weak minded and inclined to be wild.

It is so right in our own community.

There is yet another side to the story—a pitiable side to any man who is blessed with a sense of righteousness and a desire to see justice prevail.

Many of the courts in the large cities are anything but what they should be.

Judges frequently owe their elections to politicians. The politicians owe their power to the gang. The gang demands that lenience be shown certain criminals with a pull. The politicians O. K. their demands, and we have a strong suspicion that judicial necks are bowed to the yoke in fear of disaster at coming elections.

An endless chain, with powerful links pulling for the criminal at the expense of law and order.

These sordid facts are played up by the city press, are read with avidity by the young men of the country, and either inflame the juvenile imagination or destroy respect for the courts.

The long arm of crime extends even to greater lengths than that of the law.

When considering the beauties of nature, start with your own front yard. Clean it up, cut the grass at the proper time, plant flowers in season, make it a joy to the eye. Move right on around to the back of the house, repeat the operation, and then look around to see if anything has been missed. If your neighbor's yard is a little better than yours, make up your mind that yours must be better than his. Man should not judge of the works of the Lord until he has first set his own domain in order.

Hard Luck, Indeed.
Robert was decided in his refusal to go with his family to a dinner at his uncle's house. When pressed for a reason he said: "Well, it's mighty tough on a guy to have nothing to play with but girls and them all relations, at that."

Punctilious Elephant.
A little six-year-old boy was attending the circus, accompanied by his soldier father. When they reached the elephant Edward was allowed to feed it peanuts. The elephant raised his trunk to its head and Edward said excitedly: "Look, daddy, he's saluting you."

Origin of "A 1."
"A 1" is a symbol originating in the Lloyd's Maritime Insurance association denoting a ship that has been found first-class in construction and equipment. The "A" is for good construction and the "1" for good equipment.

Sense Nonsense.
In a preliminary school examination a question about the senses was answered by a bright pupil in this fashion: "The five senses are sneezing, sobbing, crying, yawning and coughing. By a sixth sense is meant an extra one which some folks have. This is snoring."—Boston Transcript.

OFFICIAL NOTICE

... OF ...

Special Election

... IN ...

Garrard County, Kentucky,

— ON —

TUESDAY, MARCH 30th, 1920

REGULAR TERM:

GARRARD COUNTY COURT; JANUARY 26, 1920.

PRESENT: Hon. Forest Stapp, Judge.

This day came, R. G. Woods and two hundred and thirty two other Citizens and legally qualified voters of Garrard County, Kentucky, who are free holders of the County, and petitioned the Court to make an order on his order book directing the Officers of the Election in all voting precincts in the County, to open a poll on TUESDAY MARCH 30, 1920, to take sense of the legal voters of said County upon the question "Are you in favor of issuing $192,000.00 in Bonds for the purpose of building roads and bridges."

Said Bonds to bear interest not to exceed five per cent per annum with coupons attached, payable semi-annually. Said Bonds to be in denominations of not less than One Hundred Dollars or more than One Thousand Dollars to run not less than five nor more than twenty-one years, and to be redeemed within that time at the pleasure of the Garrard County Fiscal Court and to be sold at not less par value and accrued interest.

Wherefore it is ordered by the Court, that the regular officers of the election, in all the voting precincts in the county will open a poll on Tuesday March 30, 1920, to take the sense of the legal voters in said County upon the question "Are you in favor of issuing $192,000.00 in Bonds for the purpose of building roads and bridges."

The sheriff of said County is directed to advertise said election and the object thereof, for at least 30 days next before the day thereof, in some newspaper having the largest circulation in the County and also by printed hand bills posted up at not less than four public places in each voting precinct in the County and at the Court House Door.

The County Clerk is directed to have printed, upon the Ballot, the question, "Are you in favor of issuing $192,000.00 in Bonds for the purpose of building roads and bridges," and to leave two places upon the right of said question: One for votes favoring the issue, to be designated by the word "Yes" and one for votes opposing the issue to be designated by the word "No", and said Ballot to be printed as provided for in the General Election Laws, Section 1459 Kentucky Statutes.

Said Election shall in all respects, be held in accordance with the general Election Laws of the state.

It is further provided that all the money raised by the sale of the said bonds shall be used solely and alone for the building, construction, or re-construction of roads of asphaltum, concrete, brick, stone block, macadam, gravel or other processes of equal merit.

FOREST STAPP, Judge of Garrard County Court.
This notice is given in pursuance to above order of the Garrard County Court. This 29th day of January 1920.

A. K. WALKER, Sheriff of Garrard County.

May-Edwards

The marriage of Miss Vivian Ella May, formerly of Perryville, Ky., to Mr. J. M. Edwards, of this county, was solemnized in Jeffersonville, Indiana, January 17th, Rev. Andrews of the Christian church of that city officiating. The bride is the daughter of Elder and Mrs. W. T. May and is a young lady of rare accomplishments.

Mr. Edwards is one of Garrard's most successful and popular farmers and lives on his elegant farm near Marcellus, and is numbered among one of our best friends. May their married life be one of continued happiness.

Sutton-Wilmot.

The marriage of Miss Lillie Mae Sutton to Mr. Bryan Wilmot, of Stanford, was solemnized at the Phoenix Hotel in Lexington last Tuesday at high noon, Rev. T. E. Ecton of that city officiating.

The bride is the popular and accomplished daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Pat Sutton of this county and a very charming young lady indeed. That she will make a worthy helpmate goes without saying. She was becomingly attired in a blue tricot suit and carried a bouquet of pink roses and never looked prettier than on her wedding day. She is a graduate of the Lancaster High School and Mr. Wilmot is to be congratulated upon winning her hand.

Mr. Wilmot is a son of Mr. James Wilmot, of Lincoln county and a nephew of Mr. Ben Wilmot of this county. He is a splendid young man, full of energy and we predict will make a model husband.

Immediately after the ceremony the happy couple left for Louisville and other points of interest and after a few weeks will be located at the home of the bride on the Buckeye pike. Our best wishes are extended to them for a long life of unalloyed happiness.

Mail Pouches Robbed.

Some sneak thief has been robbing the mails somewhere between here and Lexington and the postal authorities have done some fine work in catching the culprit. Among the spoils that was recovered from him was a lot of Kelley Tobacco seed that Mr. Kelley had previously mailed to a number of his patrons and as the wrappers were torn off and could not be forwarded, the seed was returned to Mr. Kelley here. There were about thirteen ounces returned. We were unable to learn the name of the guilty party.

Delightful Comedy.

The Buena Vista High School presented a delightful little comedy at Romans Opera House last night to an audience that packed the building to its capacity.

The comedy was in three acts, entitled, "Miss Topsy Turvey Or The Courtship of the Deacon". Fifteen pupils of the school took part in the play and all showed well training and each carried out his part like veterans. Prof. Abner, who is the superintendent of the school deserves much credit for the delightful entertainment and the training that had been given those who took part in the play.

It was well worth the price of admission and richly entitled to the patronage it received.

Notice To Citizens Of Lancaster.

The citizens of Lancaster are respectfully requested to notify the Chief of Police, whenever an electric light on their street is not burning at night. This is very important, as it is almost impossible for the marshal or the company to know immediately, as there are about five miles of electric wiring in the city. We ask your co-operation.

JOHN M. DUNCAN, Mayor.

WARNING

Issued By State Board.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Jan. 24.—"If you have a cold, stay at home. Keep away from places where there are crowds." This was the warning sent out from the State Board of Health today to every county in the State.

Such precaution, Dr. J. N. McCormack said, is absolutely essential if Kentucky is to prevent a recurrence of the "flu" epidemic.

It was pointed out that within 24 hours Hazard, the county seat of Perry county, and Bardstown, county seat of Nelson, each have reported forty cases of influenza. Enough vaccine to inoculate every resident in these counties was sent out by the Health Board offices today. Dr. McCormack is in charge of the State Health offices here in the absence of his son, Dr. Arthur T. McCormack, who is in Frankfort looking after health betterment laws that have been proposed to the Legislature.

Dr. McCormack said, while there is no immediate prospect of enforcing a statewide closing order at this time, everything is in readiness for making an immediate ban effective if circumstances warrant drastic action. Scores of cases of influenza have developed during the last few days at Camp Zachary Taylor. The malady is mild in form according to camp officials.

Erstwhile Estelle

By T. B. ALDERSON

(Copyright, 1919, Western Newspaper Union)

Two girls sat in a hotel, at Baysville regarding one another with seriousness. More than once the elder of the two, Rhoda Willis, broke out into sobbing. Her sympathizing friend, Estelle Rawdon, spoke to console her. "I wired you to meet me here on my way to Brocton," spoke the former suddenly, "because I felt so heartbroken and longed to find some one to whom I could tell my troubles."

"And will you marry this Wendell Baird if he asks you?"

"Is it not my duty—did I not so promise my dying mother? If it is a terrible sacrifice, it is a sacred one."

"And what of Vincent Searles?"

"I dare not see him, but I must convey the story of our broken lives to him in some way. His sister will understand and pity. She lives across country some fifty miles. I have telephoned Mr. Oliver Baird that I shall rest over here for a few days. In the meantime I will see Miss Searles. You will stay here in my place. I may be gone two days."

"Suppose the elder Mr. Baird, or his son, Wendell, should come down here to view the bride expectant?" suggested Estelle, but Rhoda passed the query off gravely, being in no mood to jest.

Estelle proceeded to enact the role of her friend. The ladies' parlor, a stroll among the brilliant stores, a street view from the windows of her room—full appreciation of those entities was clouded only when Estelle reflected upon the forlorn situation of Rhoda.

They had corresponded regularly, but had not met for over a year when Rhoda sent for her at Baysville. It was to recite a woeful tale. A month previous the mother of Rhoda had died. In her last moments she had exacted a solemn pledge from Rhoda to wed Wendell Baird if he sought her as his wife.

"Oliver Baird was your father's closest friend," she told Rhoda. "It was our thought that if you were ever left alone, Mr. Baird should be your guardian, hoping that you might find as a husband his son."

Then there had come a letter from Oliver Baird. It was all arranged that Rhoda was to become his ward. Rhoda had imparted to Estelle the fact that she was engaged to one Vincent Searles. She had given her promise to her mother, fearing the consequences on the falling invalid if she told that it could not be, that she was pledged to another.

As Estelle entered the dining room of the hotel that evening she tripped over a rug askew and was fairly rescued from a fall by a handsome, alert young man, who received her thanks with apparent pleasure. He bowed as he passed her in the hotel parlor the next day, and Estelle remembered and recalled his face as she went up to her room a little later. As she reached its door she uttered a sharp scream. It was burst open and a stranger tried to pass her, bearing in his hand her gold mesh bag.

As if by magic there sprang in front of the room thief the young man of the dining room episode. He wrested the plunder from the marauder, but the latter made good his escape.

"I seem to have a protector whenever I get into trouble," said Estelle, and to regain her composure returned to the parlor, the young man accompanying her. There was an hour of enjoyable converse, during which Estelle learned that he was Mr. Paul Harris.

There seemed to be a bond of accepted confidence, liking and companionship established between them after that. The third day passed and Rhoda did not return. A telegram arrived the next morning, however, from Miss Searles. It informed Estelle that Rhoda was ill and asked her to come on to Alton.

Estelle was loath to acknowledge to herself that she would regret losing the company of this magnetic and attentive Paul Harris. When she told him that she was called to a distance he looked disappointed.

"Miss Willis," he said, "circumstances have precipitated a climax that will force me to make an embarrassing admission. Paul Harris is not my name. I am in reality Wendell Baird, and I came here in another guise at the request of my father to view the person he wished me to marry. If I felt I could love her. I can and will, Miss Willis."

"Confession is good for the soul," observed Estelle. "I am not Miss Willis, and to clear away complications, I had better tell you all," and she did. "When you meet Miss Willis—" she continued, when he interrupted her.

"After having so crudely told you that I love you," said Baird, "why should I see her at all? Do you not believe that Miss Willis will get well very rapidly when she hears that she does not have to give up the man she already loves?"

It was a queer love making, but it was sincere, and then there Estelle spoke the word that settled the happiness of four earnest souls involved.

Shoes covered with diamonds were recently worn by a woman at a ball in Paris.

A LANCASTER INTERVIEW

Mr. Davis Tells His Experience.

The following brief account of an interview with a Lancaster man four years ago, and its sequel, will be read with keen interest by every citizen.

W. C. Davis, tailor, Danville Pike, Lancaster, says: "Some time ago my kidneys were in bad condition. I suffered with pains across my back and through my loins. My kidneys were irregular in action and I had to get up many times at night to pass the secretions. I had considerable stooping over to do and I became easily tired and languid. Doan's Kidney Pills brought relief and I think they are a fine kidney medicine."

AGAIN PRAISES DOAN'S.

Over four years later Mr. Davis said: "I am always glad to say a good word for Doan's Kidney Pills. When I have symptoms of kidney trouble Doan's are sure to give me relief." 60c. at all dealers. Foster-Milburn Co., Mfrs., Buffalo, N. Y.

—And Love.

Like a great poet, Nature produces the greatest results with the simplest means. These are simply a sun, flowers, water and love. Of course, if the spectator be without the last, the whole will present but a pitiful appearance; and, in that case, the sun is merely so many miles in diameter, the trees are good for fuel, the flowers are classified by stamens, and the water is simply wet.—Heine.

Composer's Peculiar Method.

The world's masters of art and music and literary geniuses have used different means for arousing inspiration and stimulating imagination, an exchange recalls. Thus, Grieg, the musician, when he was about to compose, used to heat his head for several days, whereupon he would lose his appetite and his eyes would become inflamed and his imagination thereby stimulated.

Chinese Skillful Candy Makers.

The Chinese are very skillful in making confectionery. They are able to empty an orange of its pulp entirely and then fill it up with fruit jelly without one being able to find the smallest cut in the rind or even a tiny hole. Indeed, they even empty an egg in this manner and fill it with a sort of almond nougat without one being able to find the slightest break or incision in the shell.

Subjugate.

When an army was conquered in Roman times, it was obliged to "pass under the yoke" as an evidence of defeat at the hands of the enemy. This "yoke" was sometimes made by setting up two spears and putting a third across the top. Our English word subjugate (derived from Latin "sub," or under, and "jugum," or yoke) thus contains in its composition a spectacular custom from the military life of the Romans.

THORNHILL WAGONS

Made In the Heart of the Hardwood Region

DURING the past ten years the automobile, the manure and lime spreader occupied the time of many wagon makers. But Thornhill stuck to the wagon and to the farmer trade. Over rough mountain roads, through swamps, at logging camps, these wagons did duty daily. Thus the fame of the Thornhill spread, and the demand grew steadily greater.

Tough Highland Hickory

Their plant is located in the very shadow of mighty forests of mountain hickory. The ground is hard—the climate severe. The wood has to fight for life. So it grows sturdy and strong—close-grained and tough—well nigh unbreakable. It has nearly twice the strength of hickory that grows in softer ground, which is usually brittle-brash. The white oak, growing under similar conditions, develops a similar toughness.

The oak and hickory are dried outdoors under shelter and kept there from three to five years—so piled that the air can circulate freely. The sap dries in it.

Some say their location in the heart of the hardwood region is the reason why they can build such a wear-proof wagon. And this is partly true. For good, tough oak and hickory are things no man can make.

But much is due to their modern labor-saving plant. Materials start at one end of the plant and come out a finished wagon at the other. Each man does but a single task, and he does that task to perfection.

A Clan of Master Builders

But to the men are due many of the Thornhill long-wearing, light-running features. Years ago they attracted to their plant the masters of wagon building. They asked these men for improvements, and the men who made them received their just reward.

Together they worked out more improvements than had ever been made in the twenty years that went before.

Let us show you a Thornhill and demonstrate the value of Thornhill construction.

Convalescents Build Up On Pepto-Mangan.

Increases the Supply of Rich Red Blood—Restores Strength and Vigor.

Physicians Recommend It.

Sold in Liquid and Tablet Form—The Name "Gude's" the Guide To Genuine Pepto-Mangan.

A serious illness such as Influenza or other infectious disease always leaves the body with low vitality, lack of strength, and impoverished blood.

Gude's Pepto-Mangan aids convalescents to a quick recovery, for it creates a generous supply of rich, red blood and restores the body to its normal, healthy condition.

That's why physicians recommend Pepto-Mangan, for they know that it imparts to the blood the material so sorely needed by weak, run-down systems.

Pale, sallow, thin, easily-exhausted men and women find that Pepto-Mangan builds them up wonderfully. A new supply of rich, red blood is created, which in turn imparts the glow of health to the cheeks, increases the appetite, the eyes sparkle, the entire system takes a new lease on life.

Pepto-Mangan is obtainable in liquid or tablet form, which ever proves most convenient. Both forms possess identical medicinal qualities.

There is but one genuine Pepto-Mangan and that is "Gude's." Ask your druggist for Gude's and look for the name Gude's on the package. If it is not there, it is not Pepto-Mangan.

MAN, 60, IN PRISON 43 YEARS,--

To Make First Bow To Public.

Jesse Pomeroy, Who Tried To Escape 12 Times From Solitary Confinement, Will Read His Own Poems At Prisoners' Show.

BOSTON, Jan. 24.—Jesse Pomeroy, who has served forty years in solitary confinement, is to appear in public for the first time since he was a boy, at a minstrel show to be given by inmates of State Prison.

As the latest of the liberties which have come to him, since the solitary feature of his sentence was commuted three years ago, the life convict will be allowed to take part in the show as a reader of his own poems.

Pomeroy turned several years ago from plotting to escape to writing poetry after his twelfth attempt to break jail was frustrated by a guard who found him with cell bars cut and armed with several improvised weapons intent upon fighting for his freedom.

Since that time the prisoner has written regularly for the prison paper, his poems appearing under the name "Grandpa".

Pomeroy is 60 years old. He has been in prison since his seventeenth year for crimes committed as a boy.

COULD HARDLY STAND ALONE

Terrible Suffering From Headache, Sideache, Backache, and Weakness, Relieved by Cardui, Says This Texas Lady.

Gonzales, Tex.—Mrs. Minnie Philpot, of this place, writes: "Five years ago I was taken with a pain in my left side. It was right under my left rib. It would commence with an aching and extend up into my left shoulder and on down into my back. By that time the pain would be so severe I would have to take to bed, and suffered usually about three days. I suffered this way for three years, and got to be a mere skeleton and was so weak I could hardly stand alone. Was not able to go anywhere and had to let my house work go. I suffered awful with a pain in my back and I had the headache all the time. I just was unable to do a thing. My life was a misery, my stomach got in an awful condition, caused from taking so much medicine. I suffered so much pain. I had just about given up all hopes of our getting anything to help me.

One day a Birthday Almanac was thrown in my yard. After reading its testimonials I decided to try Cardui, and am so thankful that I did, for I began to improve when on the second bottle. I am now a well woman and feeling fine and the cure has been permanent for it has been two years since my awful bad health. I will always praise and recommend Cardui." Try Cardui today.

KINDS OF FOOD CHILDREN NEED TO MAKE THEM GROW INTO HEALTHY MEN AND WOMEN

Poached Egg on Toast, Baked Potato, Bread and Butter, Milk and Rice Pudding Make an Excellent Dinner for a Three-Year-Old.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Some people tell us—a great deal about what children ought not to eat but forget to tell us what they ought to have. The kinds of food that children need to make them grow into healthy men and women is being studied by home economics experts.

The most important of these foods is milk. It supplies something for making muscles; something for making bones and teeth; and something that makes children grow. No child will grow as fast as he should or as well without milk. He may get fat, but fatness is not the same as strength. Unless he has milk, some part of him will almost surely be weak.

Every little child should have at least three glasses of whole milk every day, and if possible, four. If he has this amount of milk, and particularly if he can be given one egg yolk a day, he does not need meat. Some mothers worry because they cannot afford to buy meat, fish, chicken or other flesh foods for their children, but this is quite unnecessary if they are able to get milk, and milk is almost always cheaper than these other foods.

How to Serve Eggs.

Some one will probably ask how the yolk of an egg should be served to a child. One good way is to add it to milk gravy. Another way is to cook it hard, salt and mash it and spread it on bread. The mother may just as well use the white of the egg for cake or for puddings. It is the yolk that the child needs most. All of the iron of the egg is in the yolk. There is something in the yolk, too, as there is in the milk that makes children grow. Every mother wants her children to have straight, strong legs. Both milk and eggs help to make the bones strong. Children who do not get these foods are almost sure to have a disease called "rickets." Their bones, being weak, bend under them and get very much out of shape.

Milk gets dirty easily and it is very hard to make it clean after it has become dirty. It is different from such foods as apples and oranges from which the dirt can be wiped. If milk is left uncovered and dust or other kinds of dirt fall on it, or if it is put into a dirty dish the dirt sinks to the bottom and it is impossible to get it out. Dirty milk is almost sure to make children sick and so the greatest pains should be taken to keep it clean. The barn where the cow is kept should be clean; so, too, should the pails and the milker's hands. After the milk comes into the house it should be kept carefully covered in a cool place.

Use of Clean Skim Milk.

Whole milk is far better for children than skim milk, but clean skim milk is better than dirty whole milk. If the mother cannot get clean whole milk, she had better use clean skim milk and give the child a little extra butter to make up for the fat that was taken off when the milk was skimmed.

The "something" in milk that makes children grow comes from the grass and other green things that the cow eats. The same "something" in eggs comes from the green food that every good chicken raiser provides for his chickens. From the green food it gets into the milk and the egg yolks. This substance, so much needed by all young animals, is also in lettuce, spinach, and other greens. For this reason these vegetables are good for children, particularly when milk and eggs are scarce.

Some children do not like vegetables and it does little good to try to persuade them to eat them. A better way is to put them into soups or gravies without saying anything about it. For example, make milk stews or gravies and put into them any small amounts of cooked vegetables that may be left over or some fresh vegetables cooked for the purpose. Here is a recipe for a milk stew. With plenty of bread, a large bowl of it makes a good dinner for a child.

Milk Stew With Vegetables.

1 quart milk, whole or skim.
1 cupful raw potatoes cut in small pieces.
A few leaves lettuce, spinach or other greens cut into small pieces or chopped.
A small piece of onion.
2 level teaspoonfuls butter or bacon fat.
Salt.

Boil the potatoes till soft and drain. Cook the other vegetables in so little water that they do not need to be drained. Add to the milk. Heat, add the fat and season with salt. Serve hot.

Almost any vegetable can be used for flavoring milk stews. Or a little fish or chopped dried beef may be used. In the case of very little children care should be taken not to serve any tough foods like large pieces of dried beef unless the mother has time to watch and see that they are well chewed.

Another way to use milk is in simple puddings.

Rice Pudding.

1 quart milk, whole or skim. 1-2 cupful rice. 1-3 cupful sugar. 1-2 teaspoonful salt.

Wash the rice thoroughly, mix the ingredients, and bake three hours or more in a very slow oven, stirring occasionally at first.

Any kind of cereal, oatmeal, cornmeal, or cracked wheat can be used in place of the rice and molasses, or brown sugar can be used for sweetening and flavoring.

To say that a child does not need flesh foods like meat, chicken, and fish if he has plenty of milk does not mean that these foods are not good for him. The chief point is that they are not needed and when used in addition to milk they are extravagant. So far as health is concerned some of the tenderer flesh foods, like fish or chicken, may be given in small amounts even to very young children. No child, however, should be given tough meat that is likely to be swallowed in large pieces. Fried meat is particularly harmful.

Use Fresh or Dried Fruits.

Fruit once a day is a good rule. If you cannot afford fresh fruit, get dried fruits. Soak them well and cook them until soft. If the child is delicate give only the juice or pulp. Very young children who are just beginning to eat other things than milk should be given the juice only of the fruits. A little later they may be given the pulp. A healthy child of school age can eat apples, peaches and plums, skin and all.

Every child should have plenty of good bread. There is no danger of him eating too much of it unless it is covered with sugar or jam. A hungry child will eat plain bread without either butter or sugar between meals. Save the sweets for dessert.

Whole wheat or graham bread helps to prevent constipation. So, too, do vegetables and fruits. Mothers who cannot afford vegetables and fruits should give coarse bread occasionally. Cereal mushes, like oatmeal, cornmeal or cracked wheat, are good food for children; they have just as much nourishment in them as the ready-to-eat cereals and cost very much less. Hardness and crispness in food is not the same as toughness. In fact, hard bread or toast is good food for children. Bread that has been dried and slightly browned in the oven can be broken into small pieces and served with milk as cereal mushes are.

As to sweets, save them for dessert when the child is not hungry enough to eat too much of them. One of the simple puddings mentioned above makes a good dessert. So, too, do plain cake or cookies. One of the cheapest sweets is bread spread with butter and sugar, white or brown. Lump sugar is usually far cheaper than candy.

Breakfast may consist always of fruit, fresh or dried, with a cereal mush, milk, bread and butter. Bread and milk or rice and milk are enough for supper. The chief meal should come in the middle of the day. Here are a few suggestions for it:

Suggested Dinners.

Baked Potatoes.
Milk Gravy, made with bacon or salt pork fat.
Greens.
Milk Stew.
Egg on Toast.
Rice Pudding.

CHURCHES

To Spend Million Dollars In An Advertising Campaign.

An Associated Press dispatch from Atlantic City the past week stated that The Interchurch World Movement had decided upon a newspaper advertising campaign in connection with its program of evangelizing the world. It was stated that leaders of the movement had given their approval to his plan, which will start with the church press about February 1, and include practically every medium of publicity, including the rural newspapers of the country, in an effort to bring the world evangelization plan directly to all the people.
The decision followed a three-day conference at Atlantic City, in which Dr. R. H. Crossfield, president of Transylvania College at Lexington, represented that institution. One of the aims of the Interchurch World Movement is to avoid duplication of work among the churches in the raising of the amount needed for the evangelization work of the Christian denominations.

SOW SWEET CLOVER.

Better than red clover, and $8 to $10 per bu. cheaper. Direct from grower. Unhulled, hulled, and special scarified seed; prompt germination. Prices and circulars free. Also prices on honey.
R.D. No. 4 John A. Sheehan, Falmouth, Ky.

Decision of Character.

Another advantage of this character is that it exempts from a great deal of interference and obstructive annoyance which an irresolute man may be almost sure to encounter. Weakness in every form tempts arrogance, and a man may be allowed to wish for a kind of character with which stupidity and impertinence may not make so free. When a firm, decisive spirit is recognized, it is curious to see how the space clears around a man, and leaves him room and freedom.

ENGRAVING

You buy this work because you want something nice—not in order to economize. Good printing is better than cheap engraving, as cheap finery is generally disappointing. Our work is the standard.
